Let's Go Racing... In Virginia!

Since Captain John Smith set sail to race to the "new world" to establish the first permanent English settlement, Virginia has been the destination for the very best in racing. Likewise, Virginia has been a pioneer in the development of racing of all types. Virginia has, and continues to make, motorsports history.

Take your pick. From Virginia Beach to Big Stone Gap in Southwest Virginia, the Commonwealth provides the motorsports fan a full menu of more than 36 different race venues. Ranging from 3/8-mile dirt tracks to a 3/4-mile paved NASCAR track; from 1/8-mile to 1/4-mile drag strips; a multi-loop road course, Motocross tracks and ATV tracks.

Virginia hosts 10 major NASCAR events annually, one IRL IndyCar event, numerous IHRA-sanctioned drag events, Grand Am road racing event, Vintage Sports car racing and hundreds of smaller track fan-friendly opportunities for near-weekly motor racing excitement.

Yes Virginia, there is motor racing in Virginia; more races, more often; more excitement, every event; more opportunities for fans to enjoy a wider range of racing venues, than any other state in the US.
